A GROWING MARKETPLACE

Design Build Isn't an "Alternative Delivery Process" Anymore.

FMI analysis forecasting the next five years (2021-2025) shows that this is especially true today as impressive design-build growth will continue, despite unprecedented COVID-19 challenges.

Design-build is expected to deliver as much as 47% of spending in 2025 and has shown impressive resiliency during times of crisis. Design-build construction spending is anticipated to yield a 7.6% compound annual growth rate from 2021 to 2025, and $406 billion in construction in the assessed segments in 2025. FMI envisions an impressive 34% total growth in design-build construction spending.

SO MUCH MORE THAN AN ASSOCIATION

Shaping the Future, One Successful Collaboration At a Time

In today's competitive environment, the need for collaboration among all project team players is more important than ever. Throughout our region and its seven local chapters, DBIA provides unique opportunities to network with peers – both Owners and practitioners – allowing design-builders to make connections that power career and business opportunities, expand professional reach, and create long-lasting impact.

Our members may have joined DBIA for access to the nation's best design-build education and professional certification that inspires both projects and futures. But most of them renew their dues each year because they've witnessed the power of collaborating with like-minded people. By promoting the value of design-build project delivery and teaching the effective integration of design and construction services, we ensure success for members across disciplines.
